WEEKLY MEDITATION

What do you think is worth a personal sacrifice? What would you be willing to give up for someone or something you believe in?

We learn a lot about ourselves by what we are willing to sacrifice. Our values, personal convictions, and priorities all come into focus with the simple phrase:

Can I give that up?

We make sacrifices all the time. Some are simple, others complex; some are demanding while others are the act of a moment. Yet sacrifices reveal the depth of our hearts and our willingness to offer up our lives for something greater, something that we hold precious or valuable.

The thought that Abraham would be willing to offer up his only son - the child of God's blessing to Sarah in her old age - strikes the modern hearer as barbaric and horrible. It is a crime against nature: that the innocent could suffer such atrocity sounds more like something from Hell, not Heaven.

Yet Jesus Christ, innocent and without sin, will die a brutal death on the Cross...for us. The atrocity that confronts us at Calvary reveals the value God places on our human souls - we are loved completely, entirely, and without thinking of the cost the Lord sacrifices his life to take our place for the evil we have done.

This is the power of the transfiguration in the Gospel of Mark. Jesus, revealed in all his glory with Moses and Elijah, is God's "beloved Son." Coming down from the mountain Peter, James, and John have no idea what lies ahead - they can only marvel at the awesome sight of Jesus as he stands in Heaven...the one who is honored for the sacrifice he makes.

Perhaps then, the real question for us pertains to those things to which we still cling. What priorities and values do we place higher than Christ? What is holding us back from embracing the Lord with all our heart? I suggest considering the following thoughts:

1. How does my use of TIME reveal my priorities?
2. How does my use of MONEY reveal my values?
3. How do I show the PEOPLE in my life that I love them?
4. How do I live my faith in GOD each and every day?

And if there are things that are keeping me from God & others....

Can I give that up?

Fr. Andrew

RESILIENCE: THE BIOLOGY OF STRESS & THE SCIENCE OF HOPE is a one-hour documentary that chronicles the birth of a new movement among pediatricians, therapists, educators and communities, who are using cutting-edge brain science to disrupt cycles of violence, addiction and disease.

"The child may not remember, but the body remembers." RESILIENCE delves into the science of Adverse Childhood Experiences (ACEs) and the birth of a new movement to treat and prevent Toxic Stress. Now understood to be one of the leading causes of everything from heart disease and cancer to substance abuse and depression, extremely stressful experiences in childhood can alter brain development and have lifelong effects on health and behavior. As experts and practitioners profiled in RESILIENCE are proving, what's predictable is preventable, breaking the cycles of adversity and disease!
